Directors' Note

Dear Theater Goer,

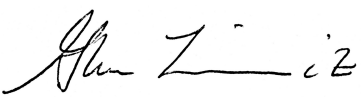
Well! Here we find ourselves in our third season of the Nathan Bishop Drama Club! Our wonderful cooperation with Trinity Repertory Company continues, and our phenomenally talented Trinity partner and co-director Jackie Davis and I would like to thank you for your support of the program.

We find ourselves in a building year with the club, which has grown larger in size, but has lost a few of the more senior members. Since we know we're preparing the new folks to take on some pretty serious material with our spring production of "Antigone," we decided to keep our fall production on the lighter side—and closer to home for the student actors character-wise. In reading the script for "The Audition," we found ourselves laughing at the very recognizable characters portrayed. We think we have even heard some of the lines coming out the director Mr. Torrences's mouth in real life—right here in our own rehearsals!

Our second piece of the night, "Homicide Meets Mr. Gold Medal," is about kids trying to outsmart their gym teacher. We realized after the fact, that in selecting these two plays, we have a fun and humorous cross-section of the kinds of teachers and students that could populate a middle school: the overzealous gym teachers, the hard-driving track and drama coaches, the scheming brainy nerds, the jocks, the drama queens, and all the in-betweens.

As parents, family, and friends of these youngsters, maybe you will recognize the characters they are playing as laughable, lovable portraits of themselves. Moreover, perhaps we will even find ourselves looking beyond the youthful aspect of the players, and laughing at the recognizable traits we find even in our very own grown-up selves! Either way, laugh loudly, clap hard, and as always...

Enjoy the show,



Glenn Zienowicz & Jackie Davis
